25 REQUIREMENTS

26 6. This Order applies to Potentially Relevant Information as defined in Paragraph 4.
27 Nothing herein shall be construed as impacting, changing, altering, or obviating the Parties'
28 obligation to preserve tangible items other than Information, nor shall anything in this Order be

1 construed as impacting or obviating the Parties' obligation to comply with orders or duties
2 relating to the preservation of evidence in other cases or investigations. Additionally, nothing 3 herein shall be construed to expand the preservation obligations of the parties beyond the 4 requirements of applicable law, including the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, effective 5 December 1, 2015.

6 7. The Parties have met and conferred regarding preservation issues consistent with 7 their obligations under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and the Northern District of 8 California's Guidelines for the Discovery of Electronically Stored Information. The Parties will 9 continue to have these meet and confer discussions in order to identify the sources, scope, and 10 type of Information that has been and will be Preserved.

11 8. Given the varying approaches used by the Parties to manage Information
12 (including the management of ESI), it is not practical at this point to delineate a single detailed 13 process that all Parties must follow to Preserve Potentially Relevant Information. Pending the 14 Parties' continued exchange of information and meet and confer discussions, the Court will 15 permit a Party to select and use its own method to Preserve Potentially Relevant Information, so 16 long as the method enables the Party to meet its obligations under applicable law, including the 17 Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, effective December 1, 2015. In the event that questions arise
18 as to whether or how Information should be Preserved under this Order, counsel for the Parties 19 shall meet and confer. If the Parties are unable to agree, they may apply to this Court for 20 clarification or relief from this Order upon reasonable notice. Before any Party files any motion 21 with any court regarding the terms of this Order or compliance with this Order, counsel for that 22 Party shall meet and confer in a good faith attempt to resolve the dispute.

23 9. During the pendency of the Parties' discussions pursuant to Paragraphs 7-8, no
24 Party shall be relieved from retaining Potentially Relevant Information segregated or otherwise 25 preserved pursuant to the preservation measures that it implemented pursuant to applicable law
26 or order entered in any action transferred to this MDL.

27 10. The United States is focused on preserving unique Information and therefore may 28 not be preserving some categories of data.

1           11. By Preserving Potentially Relevant Information, no Party concedes that such 2 material is discoverable in this matter, nor does any Party waive any claim of privilege by so 3 Preserving.

4           12. Nothing in this Order shall preclude the Parties from seeking further relief from or 5 clarification of the Preservation obligations imposed by this Order; however, prior to doing so 6 counsel shall meet and confer amongst themselves in a good-faith effort to reach agreement as to 7 the appropriate scope of any particular Information potentially needing to be Preserved.

8           13. Nothing in this Order shall affect any other obligations of the Parties to Preserve 9 Information for purposes other than claims brought or defenses asserted in this MDL, such as 10 pursuant to court order, administrative order, subpoena, statute, or in response to other 11 anticipated litigation.
